FRED'S TRAILER PARTS NEW SERIES CONTINUES AT NEW EGYPT
SPEEDWAY. . . .

THE "JERSEY JET" JJ GRASSO UPSETS URC FIELD FOR FIRST CAREER WIN
SATURDAY NIGHT

NEW EGYPT, NJ - The "Jersey Jet" JJ Grasso of Pedricktown, NJ was the star of the show on Saturday night at the New Egypt Speedway when the URC BAR'S Leaks Sprint Series presented their twenty-third show of the season. Grasso was the man to beat all night, winning his heat race, setting the LikeWise Construction fast time then leading the twenty-five lap URC sprint feature wire-to-wire, collecting the $2,000 first prize. Grasso keeps the streak of different and first time winners alive, becoming URC's seventeenth different feature winner of the season and URC's ninth first time ever feature winner.

And still another strong field of thirty URC sprints turned out for the program that is part of the Fred's Trailer Parts New Series.

Heat race events were won by JJ Grasso, Becca Anderson in the BAR'S Leaks sponsored sprinter and Kramer Williamson is his familiar "Pike Panther" #73. The Don Ott "B" Main winner was Jimmy Stitzel.

Twenty-five URC sprint cars took the green flag to start the 25 lap feature event with JJ Grasso immediately gunning to a commanding lead as Kramer Williamson and Becca Anderson followed in the chase. On lap four, the first caution of the event was displayed when Mares Stellfox slowed in turn one. On the restart, The "Jersey Jet" blasted away from the field, leaving Williamson and Mark Bitner now in a tug of war for second. Bitner made the pass for second on lap eight and he began his chase on the leader. On lap twelve, the second caution of the race was displayed when Joey Biasi slowed dramatically going down the backstretch.

When green flag racing resumed, Grasso again checked out to run and hide from the rest of the field. At the halfway point of the race, Grasso was setting a blistering pace followed by Mark Bitner, Kramer Williamson, Michael Carber and fifth place runner Lucas Wolfe, who started fifteenth.

With just eight laps remaining, Bitner starting reeling in Grasso as lapped traffic started to play a factor for the lead.. Also on a charge was Michael Carber in the Bill Gallagher owned sprinter. Carber was now up to third with Lucas Wolfe in fourth. In the closing laps, Grasso remained in solid command of the lead as Bitner now had to hold off Carber.

At the drop of the checker flag, Grasso earned the win, his first ever under the URC banner. In a photo finish, Michael Carber edged out Mark Bitner for second and Lucas

Wolfe finished fourth as Kramer Williamson made up the top five. In the top ten were Mike Haggbottom, Jason Clauss, Brook Weibley ,Ed Aikin and Chris Coyle.

Key Notes: Rookie driver Andrew Hannula returned from Charlotte where he is attending college to compete in the New Egypt URC show. Late in the week some mechanical problems developed and fellow competitor Scott McClaren assisted so the Hannula team could compete this weekend.

Heat race crashes took their toll with Dave Ely, Davey Sammons and Brian Seidel all involved in a pair of different accidents. No drivers were injured and Davey Sammons was able to continue. New Egypt driver Art Lidel took part in the URC event and qualified for the feature event. Lucas Wolfe, 410 sprint car driving sensation finished a strong fourth. Turning in a great ride was Mike Haggbottom who rallied home in sixth. Returning to the racing wars was the Eldreth Construction #25 with driver Brook Weibley with this team delivering a strong eighth place finish. Steady Ed Aikin pulled off another strong run, finishing ninth and advancing eight positions in the feature event.
