

Ryan Hann Race Report - April 6th, 2009

I think Ryan loves his car now, LOL. Yesterday was opening day at Pittsburgh Raceway Park. With a new motor and clutch set up, he was ready to do some test passes. This year he can run 7.90 in IHRA at 12 years old and he turned 12 on April 2nd.

When he made his first pass, many of the Jr. kids and dads were watching him. I think it was just to see how far off we were and what they needed to do. Right out of the box, Ryan cut a .054 light and ran a 7.9112 at 81 mph. Then he backed it up on the next pass with a 7.8994.

After the 2nd pass, Ryan got out of his car all smiles and said "Dad, I think we are ready!"
